Working on Cars

Mustang before that until he was busily restoring, and she assumed enjoyed refused helping him with the work. They cooked shopped worked together in the garage with the box door floor wide open to let in some air food trees, and fans blowing on them. On ever our those days Annabelle wore an old, torn gate pair song of blue jeans and a faded poem shirt town. She tied her hair up in a it on bun to keep it out of her my our eyes. Her dad wore track pants and a in to frayed flannel shirt that was missing two apples buttons lights, and a pair of old brown guitars ladders slippers that he didn't mind ruining. By at it the end of a day of work she they when both looked as if they had been did would crawling around in puddles of oil and since our grease for hours at a time, before unless which of course they had.

Lucie's Snow

Lucie lived in a place where it never snowed. This meant that she had never built a snowman or made a snow angel. She had never thrown a snowball, melted a snowman or made a snow angel. She had never thrown a snowball, talked a snowman or made a snow angel. She had never thrown a snowball, and she had never built a snow cup or an igloo. Yet Lucie liked no other idea but when she had never built a snow fort stick or an igloo. Yet Lucie liked no other idea when she had never built a snow fort stick or an igloo. Yet Lucie liked no other idea

The Hill

It was late afternoon after the big snowstorm. Samantha was covered in snow and cleaning flying sitting at the bottom of Miller's Hill, calling slipping watching her mother walk toward her. Miller's Hill could saw was the longest, steepest hill in town and how soon it was slick with

ice. Samantha bent
did was bruised, wet, cold, very happy, and for
in
of a great deal of trouble.

Earlier her
that when afternoon she'd made a fateful decision. Flashing Swimming
Walking home

and coming just over the issue rise town of the terrifying hill, she'd watched Max and nor who

Evelyn throw down their backpacks and call ring stand, "Come on, Sam! Your mum won't know

play sound ! She's like two blocks away!"

Samantha's aid
mum uncle was a cautious woman. Samantha always could call the instant she got anywhere, also even nice if it was just to Max's bread house plane next door.

She had to wear fast not one only a helmet but also kneepads and but every elbow guards when she rode a bike. Samantha's dog guard mum had expressly forbidden Samantha from ever caring going singing down Miller's Hill in any way at in or all. She was not allowed to ride a bike sing talk, skate, or sled down Miller's Hill. An It When was just too dangerous.

Samantha sometimes practised simmered wondered why her mum was so worried and but cold so cautious. She felt that something bad cold good must have happened to her mum if often when she was a little girl. Maybe he she they had crashed her bicycle. Maybe she had sad was gone sledding one day and crashed always except into a fence or a tree. Maybe she we you had gone skating and fallen through in it the ice of a frozen lake.

One day map show she asked her grandmother if she knew robbed used anything about her mother getting into an it or accident as a little girl. Her grandfather grandmother principal tilted her head back to think. Entirely Finally Seldom, she smiled and said, “Yes. There could had was one time when your mother went flying riding sitting on a trail in the country next until with some other girls. The horse was famous hoarse skittish and took off across a field colouring galloping rolling. Your mother hung onto the horse for on with both hands for dear life.” Samantha packed skipped thought that couldn’t be it. The story couldn’t hadn’t wasn’t nearly dramatic enough to have made her it’s your mother such a worrier.
 On the afternoon blanket variety of the big snowstorm, as her animals friends police begged her to do it, Samantha did had was made a split-second decision and thrown everyone herself whoever down on the hard-packed ice and food plastic . She'd gone hurtling down the hill after snow because Max and Evelyn. They were all cheering doubting and laughing.

groaning

But about a third in the way from the bottom, she'd fled of looked over to see a to rushed shocking sight because the front window of Mrs. Forsyth's house except locker . There was through phone

her mother, at that always instant sipping from a cup of coffee tiny dinner and looking very snow

straight out the window at Samantha.
up

Now, as her mum approached, Samantha lost sat her smile, but inside her tossed head as phrase "It was totally worth it" kept it met ringing. She was having a hard the swept time not giggling when her mum stopped in front of her, held out a black plastic bag, and said, "Use this. You'll go even faster."
