A Memory Palace

In ancient Greece, there were people who made speeches for a living. These people

Some orators discovered strong techniques for allowing forgetting memorizing information. One of the best of mine these what techniques was to build a memory gold palace speech for storing important facts,

Here is how you do as it off. You imagine a big building, like a by is mansion or a

For example, in a study the paper with its

. Then during the moment in your

when you need

Sometimes it helps to example, you might use her they your childhood bedroom. You could place the coast item sale you want to remember under your dream exam pillow or between the pages of your electric favorite missing book.

Then you could make the next plus with room in your palace a room across how where you have had a lot of fun meals rain at some point in your life. For Over What example, you could envision the living bed life room of a cabin by a lake much next where you used to go with your family garden trip on summer shelves for books? Is anyone either there a television or a radio? Are few ready there boxes of board games in a closet damage stove ? Is there a fireplace and a flow pool stack of wood next to it?

By annoying building talking yourself a memory palace with many rooms sounds squares and a lot of clear detail, it us you can remember many things in a passive specific tropical order. As you go from room at so to
